How Medicare Supplement plans work with Medicare.

To understand how a Medicare Supplement plan works, it's important to start with a basic understanding of Medicare, which has four parts.

PART A

Original Medicare

This is a federal health insurance program primarily for Americans age 65 and over. Original Medicare includes both Part A (hospital coverage) and Part B (medical coverage). Typically, Medicare Part B only covers about 80% of your medical expenses.

PART B

Medicare Advantage

These plans are an all-in-one alternative to Original Medicare Parts A and B and usually provide additional benefits like prescription drug coverage. Most Medicare Advantage plans are network-based, don't always provide protection for unexpected costs, and cannot be combined with Medicare Supplement.

PART C

Prescription Drug Coverage

These plans help pay for your prescription drugs. Some Medicare Advantage plans include Part D coverage. If it's not included, they can be purchased separately. You can also purchase a Part D plan along with Medicare Supplement to provide more complete coverage.

PART D

Medicare Supplement Insurance (Medigap)

Purchased in addition to Original Medicare, Medicare Supplement plans provide peace of mind by covering many of the costs that Original Medicare doesn't pay. Unlike Medicare Advantage, Medicare Supplement plans have no network restrictions, as long as the providers you choose accept Medicare patients. And Medicare Supplement plans help you control your out-of-pocket costs, which can add up quickly.

A Medicare Supplement plan puts you in control.

A Medicare Supplement insurance plan helps cover the out-of-pocket costs not paid for by Original Medicare. These costs could add up to hundreds or even thousands of dollars a year.

Fill the gaps of Medicare with Medigap.

Here's an example of how a Medicare Supplement plan covers the costs not paid by Original Medicare.

What you pay:	with Original Medicare alone	with Medicare and a Medigap Plan G
Part A hospital deductible	$1,632	$0
Part B medical deductible	$240	$240
Doctor visits	about 20% of the Medicare-approved amount	$0
Days 61–90 in the hospital	$408 a day	$0
Days 21–100 in a skilled nursing facility	Up to $204 a day	$0

The biggest benefit is peace of mind.

With a Medicare Supplement plan, you'll avoid the hassles of finding a new doctor, shopping for a plan each year, or unexpected network changes.

No surprise out-of-pocket costs, and plans with low to no copays.

Like your doctor? Keep them if they accept Medicare patients.

Plans go with you when you travel in the U.S.

No networks. No referrals needed.

Get guaranteed coverage for life.¹

¹ As long as you pay your premiums when due and you do not make any material misrepresentation when you apply for this plan.

Plans available with Discounts

AARP Medicare Supplement Insurance Plans from UnitedHealthcare Insurance Company of America include premium discounts that can add up to valuable savings.

Enrollment Discount

You may be eligible for a discount off your monthly premium for enrolling early.

Multi-insured Discount

Save on your monthly premium if two or more members are enrolled under the same AARP membership number and each is insured under an eligible AARP-branded supplemental insurance policy from UnitedHealthcare.

Household Discount*

Take a percentage off your monthly premium when another person (no more than three) in your household is also an AARP member. Note: The Multi-Insured Discount and the Household Discount cannot be combined.

* Household discount not available in IL or OH.

Gym membership varies by plan and area. Access to gym and fitness location network may vary by location and plan.

Don't be surprised with out-of-pocket Medicare expenses.

You may have seen some of the advertising for Medicare Advantage plans and for some people, it may be a good choice. It's important to remember that although a Medicare Advantage plan may have a $0 premium, it doesn't mean that the plan is free.

With Medicare Advantage, you still have to pay for many of the out-of-pocket costs not paid by Medicare, including copays, coinsurance and deductibles. This amount, depending upon the plan chosen, can be as high as $8,850 in 2024 for in-network and may be even higher for out-of-network services.¹ Also, you may be required to use network doctors and hospitals, and may need referrals to see specialists.

A Medicare Supplement plan puts you in control. No need to worry about finding a new doctor, shopping for a plan each year, facing annual benefit or network changes or getting referrals. You can see any provider you want who accepts Medicare patients and you are guaranteed coverage for life.²

Depending on the plan you choose, you may receive coverage for many out-of-pocket expenses that Medicare Parts A and B don't cover, such as:

- Deductibles
- Coinsurance
- Copayments (copays)

¹ There are Medicare Advantage plans that charge less. Your actual costs will depend on how much care you need.

Ready to Apply?

When

Once enrolled in Medicare Part A and Part B, you can apply for a Medicare Supplement insurance plan at any time.¹ The best time is during your six-month Medicare Supplement Open Enrollment Period (OEP). This starts the first day of the month in which you are both age 65 or older and enrolled in Part B.

Why

In addition to helping pay some of the out-of-pocket expenses that Medicare doesn't pay, Medicare Supplement plans offer guaranteed coverage, meaning your plan will continue year after year, regardless of age or health.²

¹ Please note that you may be underwritten and not accepted into the plan if you are outside of Open Enrollment or Guaranteed Issue periods. (This does not apply to residents of Connecticut where Open Enrollment and Guaranteed Issue is ongoing and Medicare Supplement plans are guaranteed available.)

² As long as you pay your premiums when due and you do not make any material misrepresentation when you apply for this plan.
